STUDENT MISSING FROM STANFORD; SEARCH IS BEGUN

Edward Hammond of Biggs
Sought By Parents and Bay
Region Sheriffs.

A search is being made for Edward H. Hammond, 19 year old freshman student at Stanford University, registered from Biggs, Calif., who mysteriously disappeared last Thursday and of whom no trace has been found. He is being sought by his father, J. H. Hammond and authorities throughout the bay and peninsula regions.

It is believed by his room-mate, H. G. Wilkins that Hammond was worried over his failure to keep up with the work of his classes.

After telling his friends that he was going home to rest up for the fall semester, Hammond left the campus last Thursday, and has not been heard of since. Wilkins said that Hammond acted queerly upon leaving, so he made him promise to write immediately on reaching home.

As Wilkins received no letter he notified the boy's father and learned

14,000 Aliens Register in County; Italy Heads List

Nearly 14,000 aliens registered in Alameda county under provisions of the Alien Poll Tax law, according to figures compiled in the office of County Clerk George Gross. Deputy County Clerk Jo Wagner, who has had charge of the registration, completed the tabulation by nationalities and by assembly districts today.

Citizens of Italy lead in the list of sixty nationalities represented with 3150. Portugal is second, with 2081; Japan third with 1814; and China fourth with 1010. (These are the only nationalities represented by over one thousand.) Bermuda, Macedonia, Panama, San Salvador and Zanzibar share last place.

The Portuguese, who are second in the list have gathered in largest numbers in District 34, the county east of Oakland, where 439 are registered. In District 41, Berkeley and Albany one Portuguese is found. There are 804 Chinese registered in District 15 Oakland while only five are registered in District 36, East Oakland. For the Italians, the that the youth had not returned home.

Hammond Sr. came to Stanford University and started a search for his son enlisting the aid of all the police and sheriffs in the surrounding country.

Wilkins does not believe that his room-mate has met with foul play but believes that the missing student is working in San Francisco as Hammond often remarked that it he "flunked out" he would go to work.

largest registration is 590 in District 38, and the smallest 62 in District 36. The Japanese registered 455 in District 34 and 75 in District 40, Berkeley.

The registration, by assembly districts, shows the largest number of aliens, 3127, in District 38 and the smallest number of aliens, 873 in District 37, Oakland and Piedmont.

The total registration, by nationalities, follows: Austria 749, Africa 1, Australia 297, Argentina 1, Belgium 15, Bermuda 1, Bohemia 12, Brazil 16, Bulgaria 9, Central America 4, Chile 12, China 1010, Canada 207, Denmark 226, East India 4, England 726, Egypt 2, France 270, Finland 125, Germany 337, Greece 671, Guatemala 3, Hawaii 2, Holland 57, Italy 3150, Ireland 251, Japan 1814, Jamaica 4, Korea 9, Luxemburg 6, Mexico 619, Macedonia 1, Montenegro 24, Norway 146, Newfoundland 8, New Zealand 22, Nicaragua 3, Portugal 2081, Panama 1, Philippines 53, Peru 13, Persia 1, Russia 345, Roumania 14, San Salvador 1, Spain 353, South America 5, South Africa 4, Switzerland 179, Serbia 34, Syria 29, Scotland 322, Sweden 333, Turkey 37, Tahiti 2, Wales 32, West Indies 24. Total, 13,888.

GENERAL AND TWO COLONELS SCORED IN BERGDOLL CASE

Blame For Escape of Slacker
Is Placed in Report of Congress Board.

dition existed is of course a scandal. Less than ordinary precautions to prevent escape were used."

Colonel Hunt "within the next two months after he participated so criminally in the escape," said the majority, was promoted and retired "an outraged nation." It added, "has the right to demand that the Colonel Hunt's annuity be discontinued."

"With the advent into the case of him who, by his position, has been modestly declared to be the highest authority in this country on military law, we find more or less deception practiced upon the trusting. Next we see a palsied old man, overflowing with that generous spirit of acquiescence and lack of resistance that always accompanies those who grow old beautifully."

(This reference is to Judge John Westcott, New Jersey lawyer.)

Then we find the activities transferred to Washington, which for present must be obscured, to Governors Island. This transfer from Washington to Governors Island was so absolute that even an official letter of warning sent from Philadelphia to Washington forecasting Bergdoll's escape within two weeks, was hidden away in a pigeonhole, never to find its way to Bergdoll's prison, so that he might be properly guilty."

We see the commandant of the prison turn deaf, dumb and blind to the direction that might hinder Bergdoll's escape. Finally, and as a fitting sequel to this sordid tale, we find the derelict commandant of Governors Island was prosecuted by one whose shame was measured only by his days. Following the timely pretense—only a pretense—at prosecution the commandant's fate was given to a court composed of military officers, who found him not guilty."

Bergdoll escaped through the misdoing of somebody other than the Bergdoll family and their immediate personal assistants, such as Romig, Stecher, Gibbons and Mrs. Bergdoll. It is hoped that this report bakes to Congress the others who are more guilty than even the Bergdoll family. Shall they go unwhipped of justice?

The committee declares that "every direction which looked to Bergdoll's safekeeping was rejected in front and everything that might facilitate his escape was done without question or quibble."

"The inevitable conclusion," the majority report states, is that Bergdoll bought his way out, yet Colonel Cresson the prosecutor, boldly announced that he would not prove that to be the case even if he could. Prisoners in making escapes use crowbars, saws, files, some saws and some false keys. The instrument used by Bergdoll was money."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—General Samuel T. Ansell today made a bitter attack on the congressmen who made the Grover Cleveland Bergdoll report, containing the charges against him.

Raised Bill Rumor Is Declared Untrue

VALLEJO, Aug. 18.—Following an official investigation little credence was placed by navy yard chiefs today in the reported pay envelope swindle by which it was said that congressional bills were used to the nomination of pay to the paymaster and officers Monday. Officially investigating the story declared that they could only find one case where a workman was given one of the bills and the fact that he had changed his money before discovering it leads them to believe that the spurious note was not in his pay envelope.

Investigators reported that the pay envelopes of hundreds of men had received the bid bills, and that they had caused a deficit of thousands of dollars.

Investigation revealed the fact that several months ago that there was a stranger in town who hired an automobile driver and who had paid him off with a one-dollar bill which had been raised to a ten. It is thought that this bill had been circulated until it had finally been discovered by the naval workman.

Eastbay Products To Feature Exhibit

Every article of commerce manufactured in the Eastbay region will be on display at the pageant of industrial progress to be held at Idora Park, October 1 to 9 inclusive.

The collection of products, say the men at the head of the great show will provide a reason for wonderment and thrill for the people of this territory and will demonstrate to them for the first time what has been accomplished here in the last few years to place Oakland and other Eastbay cities on the map as the greatest industrial center of the Pacific coast.

Heads of the leading manufacturing firms of the bay region are directing the affairs of the exhibition which is being staged for the dual purpose of showing to the people the importance of the committee in which they live in the industrial life of the nation and also to give a stimulus to business generally.

Two Suspects in Turlock Case Free

MODESTO, Aug. 18.—Charges of kidnapping against James L. Shea and John Lucas, in connection with the deportation from Turlock, July 19, of a group of Japanese melon growers, were dismissed today by Justice of the Peace W. H. Rice here on motion of District Attorney W. J. Brown who said the evidence against them was not sufficient.

Shea at the time of his arrest was president of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union No. 1. He was unable to furnish bail and had been in jail here since July 21. Lucas had been at liberty under $1000 bond.

Six other defendants were arraigned on August 5 and held to answer before the superior court. The date for their trial has not been set.

The second trial of Alfred S. H. Wilson, charged with assault with intent to commit murder in having shot his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, was set for October 4 by Judge George Samuel today. The jury on the first trial disagreed, standing 3 to 4 for conviction. Wilson's defense was temporary insanity caused by alleged jealousy of his wife. She recovered and was a witness at the trial.

SEVEN MEN-AND FOUR WOMEN ON BOOZE SHIP HELD

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18.—Police early today took seven men and four women into custody in a spectacular seizure of the steam yacht Venice, said to be in the yacht of a whisky ring operating in Canada and the United States. The seizure, made at Whiskey Island, west of the Cuyahoga river, netted ninety-five cases of imported wines and liquors.

Six of the men seized, including Captain William L. Curry of Toronto, Canada, said to be the owner of the yacht, are charged with violating the prohibition law. The seventh man, the engineer, and the women are held for investigation.

Train Hits Handcar, Killing Section Hand

STOCKTON, Aug. 18.—In a head-on collision between a freight train and a hand car, carrying seven section hands, C. W. Gerboth of Stockton, was instantly killed, and L. C. Caplinger was seriously injured. The other five men escaped injury by jumping. The collision occurred in a deep cut, at a sharp curve on the Sierra railway a few miles below Sonoma. The men who escaped say they could not see the approaching train due to the high embankment which shielded the track ahead from their view. The inquest will be held tonight at Sonoma.

TEMPLE SINAI TO GREET NEW RABBI, OAKLAND NATIVE

Elaborate Service Will Mark Installation Tomorrow By Dr. R. I. Coffee.

Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee will be installed as minister of the First Hebrew Congregation at Temple Sinai tomorrow night. Dr. David P. Barrows, president of the University of California, and Rabbi Martin A. Meyer of the Temple Emanuel-Eli San Francisco, will be the principal speakers.

The opening prayer will be made by Rabbi Herman Rosenwasser of San Francisco. Abraham Jones, president of Temple Sinai, under whose direction the installation will be conducted, will make the opening remarks. Dr. Coffee will read the service. Dr. Meyer will speak on the subject, "The Rabbi and Democracy of Thought." Rev. Reuben I. Rinder of San Francisco has been asked to conduct the concluding service, and Rabbi Alexander Segal of Fresno will offer the closing prayer. Hymns and instrumental music will be given during the evening by the large chorus choir and soloists.

ABSENT QUARTER CENTURY. Dr. Coffee, who was called to Oakland after an absence of twenty-five years, spent with the largest congregations of the east, was born in Oakland and attended the grammar and high schools of this city, and the University of California. He was called here from Toledo, Ohio.

The installation of Dr. Coffee is particularly significant at this time, according to the members of the congregation, since it comes soon after the temple has been cleared from debt. A mortgage of $50,000 was recently paid off on the temple. Under the direction of Joseph Metzger a drive for 100 new members will be instituted immediately. It is announced.

On Sunday morning, August 21, the Sunday school will meet under the personal supervision of Rabbi Coffee, and on Sunday night the Sisterhood of Temple Sinai has arranged a reception in honor of the new rabbi.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED.

The following program will be given tomorrow night:

Organ Prelude—Meditation.....Matty Glick (Hymn—Benedictus).....Samuels Choir.

Opening Prayer—Rabbi Herman Rosenwasser, San Francisco.

Opening Remarks—Abraham Jones, Oakland, President Temple Sinai.

Reading of Service—Union Prayer Book, P. 6.

U. C. Students Hear Plea For Universal Education

More than 200 University of California students attended the reception given by the Berkeley Alliance of Jewish Women to old and new students at the University Young Women's Christian Association last night, and heard the stirring appeal for higher education made by Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee, who will be installed as rabbi of the congregation of Temple Sinai tomorrow night.

Dr. Coffee, who made the only address of the evening, declared it is in the universities today that the thought of the world for tomorrow is being formed. "The world never needed an educated man or woman as much as it does now," he declared. "To Lord Bacon is ascribed the very significant truth, 'All that the universities are discussing and I shall know what the common people will be thinking twenty years hence.' He meant that leadership comes from the men and women who consecrate their lives to higher education."

"The day of the self-made man or woman is past. The world today is crying for the leadership of those who are fitted to lead because they are fitted to think, and we can be fitted only by college training. Brains are wanted to direct affairs. Warfare depending so much on brute force is a thing of the past."

JEWELRY LEAD THOUGHT.

Dr. Coffee declared that the Jew led the thinking in antiquity, and there is no reason why they should not continue to do so. Moses, the prophet, Jesus of Nazareth, who has exerted an influence through eight centuries, representing the great leaders of antiquity, and Lord Reading, Sir Herbert Samuel, Phillip Lippman, a few of the great Jews of today, were born leaders, he said. "All of these men were and are highly trained. The greater emphasis placed on education the quicker will the world's trials be solved."

The speaker condemned what he termed an "un-American disinterestedness" in the fact that many of the night schools are being closed. "In one breath we cry for 100 per cent Americanism," he said, "and then shut down the most needed schools for the poor and the foreigner who require most of all the night school."

The Jews as a people have always been interested in higher education and for that reason many of them have been recognized as leaders," he declared. "Do you know one of the hardest tasks of the universe today?"

OAKLAND CLUBS PLAN COUNCIL OF PRESIDENTS

Organization of Executives Is Projected To Strengthen And Aid Bodies.

Intimation that a "presidents' council," composed of the chief executives of all Oakland clubs and business organizations would be formed in the near future to meet once a month and discuss proposed policies and to take steps to strengthen the various bodies, was given today by Abe Leach, president of the Kiwanis Club, who spoke before members and guests of the Mutual Business Men's Club. The meeting was held in the blue room of the Hotel Oakland.

Leach declared that already plans were being considered for the establishment of such a council. He said the monthly meetings of the different presidents would be in the form of luncheons, but there would be no formal organization and that the executives who attended the councils would be in no way bound to accept and abide by the opinions of the others.

It will be absolutely distinct from any organization where the majority might be in a position to rule the minority," explained the speaker. "In my opinion, this will be one of the best things that could possibly happen for the interests of the various Oakland organizations."

Leach told of the international convention of the Kiwanis Club, which he attended recently, and impressed upon the minds of his hearers the caliber of men who today are at the head of similar organizations, and who from a central headquarters in the country are governing their interests.

Burns Made Head of Investigation Bureau

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Appointment of William J. Burns as director of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice was announced today by Attorney General Daugherty.

Burns succeeds William J. Flynn, he asked. "It is in India. There Lord Reading, a highly educated Jew, whose wife was born in America, is holding back, alone, three hundred and fifty millions from open revolt. Witness also, the traitor in Palestine where England sent another educated Jew, Sir Herbert Samuel, who is arbitrating differences between Jew and Arab that seemed insurmountable."

"Another Jew, Phillip Lippman of New York, has made future wars almost impossible by his wonderful genius for manufacturing Lewisite, the most deadly poison the world ever knew at the time of the armistice. If the truth were known, it was Lewisite that made the Germans give up, even more than the two million soldiers we had in France."

"The Jew is stronger today than ever before. He is standing on his own merits. Do not be ashamed of being called a Jew. Be proud of it. As individuals we shall contribute our might and our best efforts to make the world better. We strive not for power nor personal gain but for the improvement of the universe."

The reception, of which Dr. Coffee's address and dancing were the main features, is the first given by the Alliance, since its organization in Berkeley only a short time ago. It was stated during the evening that the functions of a similar nature would be given from time to time during the winter.

COST OF CRIME IN CALIFORNIA INCREASED HALF

Fred M. Hunter Shows Rotarians Result of Investigation.

The cost of crime in California has increased fifty per cent within the past six years, or almost doubled the cost of the state's educational system, according to Fred M. Hunter, superintendent of schools, who today made public before the Oakland Rotary club a chart which shows some startling figures as the result of an exhaustive investigation, during which time the records of our state penitentiaries and school departments have been searched.

Hunter, speaking in behalf of the "back to school" movement which the Rotary clubs throughout the United States are backing, declared that the society of the state of California is being endangered by the class of criminals which are seeking to destroy what the state is trying to build up in the way of institutions by which the growing boy and girl may be given an opportunity to equip him or herself with sufficient knowledge to be ideal American citizens.

U. S. SOLDIERS SUPREMACY. In laying a foundation upon which to illustrate his claim that education is being neglected, and to show why America should continue to better her educational system, Hunter said: "Our men of the A. E. F. stood out above all other soldiers, not as military men, pure and simple, but for their marked individuality. They were supreme because of that individuality. Other soldiers could not cope with them."

"That individuality is the aim upon which our school system is founded. It teaches the fundamentals of American life, which has made this country supreme."

Physical fitness is the first essential in teaching our growing children to become valuable citizens and not costly criminals. They must have the fundamentals. They must be equipped for some useful calling or vocation. They must have the right conception of their relation to the community. They must have a willingness to accept public responsibility. They ought to know how to use their leisure hours."

COST $37,153,470 YEAR.

The chart shows that the cost of crime in California for 1915 was $37,153,470. Since that time in California it has increased to approximately $55,750,000, or fifty per cent. This includes every expenditure for the repression of crime and healing the ill done society after they are committed. The public school system in the state this year cost $47,750,000.

The juvenile report on the chart shows that out of 881 cases dealt with, 687 of them never went further in school than the eighth grade. The others quit school in the sixth or seventh grade, being those whose characters were in the making, and who had gone to the street where they followed the trail of juvenile crime.

The penitentiary report showed, out of 1994 inmates of San Quentin but 55 per cent were graduates of the elementary schools, and that one

Tinted Bulrushes Facts Asked of Tribune Bureau

Tinted bulrushes and paved highways! No, this is not a new combination cuss word, nor mysterious countersign. It's just a sample of some of the widely varied subjects of queries sent to the Information Bureau of The TRIBUNE. Concerning the tinted bulrushes, the following note came in today:

"Would you please tell me what is used for painting or tinting bulrushes, and eucalyptus buds?"

Gold, aluminum or copper paint is good. Get it in powdered form from any paint store and mix with kerosene. Dyes and oil paints are also used.

The highway query was as follows:

"Please answer this question in your paper: How many miles of road is not paved between Woodland and Yolo?"

All the highway is paved between Woodland and Yolo. There is one small stretch about half a mile in extent, near the river, that is said to be in bad condition. Otherwise it is considered a very good road.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature except school or legal problems, debates, trade and firm names and queries as to the time of day.

The Bureau is open every day except Sunday, from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. If answers are desired by mail, stamps must be enclosed. Quick responses can be obtained by telephoning to the bureau. If you have any problems of a general nature to solve ask The TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 6000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Six remodeled D-8 airplanes, designed to carry 800 pounds of mail, or 32,000 letters, will be placed in operation on the transcontinental mail air route between New York and San Francisco. It was announced at the postoffice department today. The announcement follows inspection of one of the new planes by Postmaster General Hays.

Out of twelve had graduated from high schools, or above.

OAKLAND AVERAGE HIGH.

The report also showed that in Oakland alone but 49 out of every 100 high school students ever complete the high school course. The percentage of high school students compared with the total school registration, is now 21 per cent, according to Hunter's report, when, according to all fundamentals of the educational system, it ought to be 33 per cent.

Hunter declared that this average is far above the average of other cities, and that Oakland outranks all Pacific coast cities in this regard.

"It is good," he concluded, "but we must strive for the 33 per cent and give our children the proper opportunity to become better citizens."

Dancing Great Aid To Building Up Health, Claim

LUCIENNE HEILMAN, 7-year-old girl, whose dancing has astonished critics of the East-bay region.

Exercise Acts Like Tonic, Says Mother of Remarkable Performer.

Dancing is not responsible alone for a graceful figure, but tends towards building up health like a tonic, according to Mrs. Lucienne Heilman, 3855 East Fourteenth street, who has returned to this city after having studied the art from some of the greatest dancers of Europe. Little Lucienne Heilman, Mrs. Heilman's seven-year-old daughter, according to critics, can be taken as proof of her mother's statements. Lucienne is one of the most talented dancers for her age in the East-bay region. Mrs. Heilman was formerly dancer with the grand opera at Paris, Marseilles, and in Geneva, Switzerland, and has performed in Algiers and South America.

Pedic Society Sends Thanks To Tribune

Editor OAKLAND TRIBUNE: With the closing of the convention of the National Association of Chiropractors, the Pedic Society of California, which was host to the visiting chiropractors from all parts of the country, desires to express its appreciation for the support given the convention through your news columns.

Chiropraxy is one of the oldest professions, but one that has been little understood by the public. The high ideals motivating the profession as a group have been recognized by those who have had an opportunity to get acquainted with the work now being done by the chiropractors, as evidenced in the amended practice act, which places California among the country's most progressive states as concerns chiropraxy. It is our belief that our work in furthering this understanding of chiropraxy has been greatly aided by The OAKLAND TRIBUNE in the news space given our convention and the Pedic Society joins with me in expressing appreciation for this help. Very sincerely, DR. JOHN A. LESOINE, Chairman of Publicity.

How Old Age Comes To Those Who Invite It

—“There's a Reason”

THERE are plain rules, well understood, about keeping a piece of machinery in repair and running smoothly.

Is the body as important as an automobile engine or a furnace?

Is it as reasonable to talk about the best ways of sustaining the body as it is to talk of proper care for the engine or the furnace?

Well, then—

The body is strengthened, warmed, sustained—kept young—in a very practical and scientific way.

Some Simple Facts

Food is heat and power and renewal for the body.

After all, there's nothing mysterious or magical about what food does in serving human need.

Nothing mysterious, but much that is interesting—and important.

Some foods are particularly good for the body.

GRAPE-NUTS is such a food.

GRAPE-NUTS is made from whole wheat and malted barley flour—product of the two grains which are richest in food elements for human need. Under the outer, or bran coating of the grain, nature has placed phosphates and lime which go to the making of bone, and the red blood corpuscles.

This may sound like physiology, but it works like health.

Hunger Not Cheated

All the richness of the kernel, together with essential mineral elements, are retained in the making of Grape-Nuts. Often, in the manufacture of foods, some of the most vital of nature's provisions are thrown away.

The long baking process (GRAPE-NUTS is the result of 20 hours continuous baking) partially pre-digests the food substances, develops the starches into dextrin and maltose—giving to Grape-Nuts its own natural sweetness—and produces a food which, when served with milk or cream, has been found by chemists to be almost perfectly balanced in qualities of nutrition.

The Enemies Within

Now, old age begins in the larger intestine.

This is what the scientists have found who know the human body as the mechanical expert knows his automobile engine.

No need to go into the particulars—it's enough to say that certain effects produced by food which is slow in digestion develop fermentation and other conditions which cause the bodily machine to slow down and wear out sooner than necessary.

Grape-Nuts digests quickly and wholesomely.

Much of this is due to the fact that the long baking has partly pre-digested the nutrients; partly to the fact that there is contained in Grape-Nuts the essential “roughness” to stimulate the action of the intestines.

Health's Splendid Champion

Grape-Nuts is a delightful food, for it is uniquely rich and sweet in flavor, and always crisp. It is unusually nutritious, for it has all the body-building elements of the most perfect food grains. It is a convenient and economical food, for it is ready to eat from the package, keeps in any climate, and is appetizing to the last bit.

It builds strength and vigor without taxing the digestion or leaving, within the body, elements whose familiar harm is really the beginning of “old age.”

Grape-Nuts has been a favorite food, around the world, for nearly a quarter of a century—

And there is a reason!

SPRECKELS RICH; NO MILLIONAIRE; ESTATE DWINDLES

Not More Than $150,000 Is To Be Distributed Among His Heirs.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—While John D. Spreckels Sr. was granted special letters of administration as executor of the estate of his son, John D. Spreckels Jr., who was killed August 8 when his automobile overturned near Taft, the estate, which was supposed to have totaled approximately $1,000,000, is not expected to exceed $150,000, according to testimony brought out during the hearing before Superior Judge Frank H. Dunne.

Large amounts of stocks and bonds, it was ascertained during the hearing, had been hypothecated to his father, while the only tangible assets revealed consisted of a $50,000 life insurance policy made out in favor of the estate, and a $24,000 accident insurance policy made out in favor of his former wife, Mrs. Sidi West Spreckels. There were also several notes and Liberty Bonds.

Over the objections of John D. McNab, attorney for Mrs. Sidi West Spreckels, the special letters of administration were granted to the senior Spreckels. McNab argued that a will was in actual existence and was known to be existing by a former employee of Spreckels Jr., now in the employ of the father. He refused to reveal the name of his informant until Mrs. Spreckels, who is speeding across the Atlantic with her four-year-old daughter, Geraldine, from Paris, arrives in San Francisco.

Even in the event that a will is not found, McNab declared to Judge Dunne and to W. I. Brobeck, attorney for John D. Spreckels Sr., Mrs. Sidi West Spreckels is entitled to one-half of the estate by law. According to McNab the will, which is said to be in existence, but which cannot be found by either Spreckels or his attorneys, Mrs. Sidi West Spreckels is willed the major portion of the estate. She was divorced from Spreckels Jr. last March on grounds of cruelty. McNab said that a remarriage was contemplated at the time of Spreckels' death.

Greatest Kiddie Show to Be Given by Tribune's Juveniles

BABY BOB PHIEFER (left) and MASTER DUDLEY MANLOVE (right), two new and clever kiddies, who take part Saturday morning for The TRIBUNE's Aunt Elsie and 50,000 Clubs at the American Theater.

Aunt Elsie and 50,000 Clubs to Be in Attendance at American Sunday.

One of the greatest kiddie shows ever put on by The TRIBUNE's Aunt Elsie and 50,000 Clubs and the American theater is what those who are in charge of the program are promising for the children of the Eastbay cities who attend the show to be staged entirely free for them Saturday morning at the American theater.

A fine moving picture, entitled "Don't Call Me Little Girl," is Rex Midgley's treat to the kiddies. This picture is to be the headliner all next week at the American. Mary Miles Minter plays the leading part, and is declared to be at her very best.

The Tribune's part of the program is to be a splendid juvenile entertainment, and every one knows just how fine these clever kiddies always act for you. They will be better than ever this time, with new songs and acts and dances. Just for Tribune-American kiddies today, there are those who will take part, with several new and talented performers added to the troupe: Evelyn Cavanaugh, Betty Jane Teeple, Alberta Blair, Bernice, Claire, Janice, Dorothy Burke, Adele Leakey, Gladys Silva, Wilma Bradbury, Carol Hamerton, Mildred Mitzman, Josephine and Bernice de Pasquale, Baby Bob Phiefer and Master Dudley Manlove.

And as an extra treat to those who attend the show and who find a seat for themselves, there will be a nice sweet, ice cream brick, donated through the courtesy of Miller's Ice Cream Company. Only those who can be accommodated in the theater will receive a brick.

This show is free to every boy and girl reader of the famous Aunt Elsie Kiddie page, and their mothers too. Be on hand before 2:30 sharp, as the show starts then.

"I Want To See Wife," Says Dr. Brumfield
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 18.—Dr. Wm. A. House, Portland allergist, who examined Dr. R. M. Brumfield for sanity here late yesterday, announced today that he had found the alleged murderer absolutely sane in every way.

"I want to get back to Roseburg," said Brumfield, through the bars in the county jail here today. "I want to see my wife and my boys."

There was an unmistakable quiver in the former dentist's voice, as if he realized that in going to Roseburg to rejoin his family, from whom he became separated the night Dennis Russell, hermit laborer, was found dead on the Pacific highway near that city, he is also returning to face a fight for his life.

Brumfield still pleads that his mind has been a total blank since the Sunday before the murder of Russell took place, but he is apparently beginning to realize his position as the suspected murderer of Russell.

"Is there any other reason why you want to return to Roseburg?" he was asked.

"Yes," he said, hesitatingly. "There are some puzzling questions—" his voice trailed off and his eyes sought the stone floor of his cell.

He would say nothing more.

Widow Awarded $5000 For Death
A compensation of $5000 was awarded yesterday by the state industrial accident commission to Mrs. Hester E. Malt, 1817 Broadway, Alameda, for the death of her husband, John Malt, a cashier for the General Steamship Corporation of San Francisco.

Falling from the ganerank Malt was killed when he was crushed between the ship and the pier.

Among the others awarded compensation were:

A. N. Martinez, $125 and medical expenses for a broken arm received while he was employed as a plasterer for F. A. Oehm.

F. A. Lehrs, 3223 High street, $525 for an injured knee, received while he was employed as laborer by the San Francisco shipbuilding company.

Eagle Attacks Baby; Father of Child Kills It

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 18.—While picking berries at a Sunday school picnic south of here this afternoon, Albert Pierce fought with and killed an eagle which attacked his 10-month-old baby which he was holding under one arm. The bird, measuring four feet from tip to tip, seemed determined to have his prey, which in the clash was dropped into the grass.

The father, after beating off the attack, first with a rock, seized a heavy stick and killed the eagle after a fight lasting ten minutes. The baby was uninjured.

Mrs. John Stephens, Oakland.

Two delegates were chosen to attend the annual conference at Mt. Harrison. They were Mrs. E. G. Harrison, the president, and Mrs. J. W. Henderson, recording secretary. Mrs. C. W. Evans of San Francisco will have charge of the work among the Japanese and Koreans, and Mrs. L. E. McGinnis of Oakland is to have charge of the activities of the society among the Chinese. Mrs. M. C. ## BOY OF 10 SHOT IN ARGUMENT OVER BALL PLAYER

In a boisterous argument over the merits of a certain major league baseball player Harry Grant, 10 years old, was shot in the right leg with a .22 caliber rifle by Johnny Ritchie, of 302 Thirty-fourth avenue, in whose yard the argument took place, according to a report to the police. With seven other boys Grant and young Ritchie engaged in verbal combat for a few minutes, when Ritchie, according to the police, ran into the house, secured the rifle and shot Grant in the leg. Terrified at the actions of Ritchie, the small group of boys fled the neighborhood. Young Grant collapsed on the ground where he was found by Dr. L. B. Smith, called to administer first aid. Police Detective Robert Goodwin and Robert Tracy are investigating the case. Young Grant's wound is said by Dr. Smith not to be serious. He lives at 2235 East Fourteenth street and is the son of George Grant.

ASHURST QUILTS CONFERENCES ON ANTI-BEER BILL

Senator Opposed To Amendment To Permit Making of Spirituous Liquors.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, announced today that he had refused to participate in further conferences on the anti-beer bill because of an evident intention on the part of the conferees to weaken and destroy the effect of the Stanley amendment, adopted unanimously by the Senate.

As a member of the judiciary committee Senator Ashurst was named one of the senate managers, but he developed that he withdrew from the meeting Tuesday night. He declared that he would "not return to take part in the conference if the conferees proposed to agree to any amendment which would directly or indirectly permit the manufacture of vinous, malt or spirituous liquors in the home or elsewhere for beverage purposes."

Senator Ashurst declined to comment on published reports that Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, sat with the conferees yesterday and assisted in the work of trying to get the House and Senate together on provisions of the bill.

"It was not present," he said.

FOR SEARCH WARRANTS.
The Stanley amendment adopted by the senate, provided that prohibition agents must have search warrants before attempting to enter residences, automobile or baggage for contraband liquor. The House no search of a home shall be made without search warrant, based on an affidavit setting forth that there was reasonable cause to suspect that liquor was being manufactured on the premises "for sale, or sold."

It was said the conferees had prepared a substitute for both amendments requiring a search warrant for search of a residence, and penalizing other searches made without warrant, without "good cause" shown.

ADHERES TO PLAN.
The Stanley amendment was adopted unanimously by the senate and "is a restatement of the guarantees contained in the fourth and fifth amendments to the constitution," the statement said, and Senator Ashurst, on "observing an evident intention on the part of the conferees to weaken and destroy the effect of the Stanley amendment," announced to the conferees that he would not sign a report which altered the Stanley provision, and left the conferees not to return "unless the conferees agree to the

RESCUER SAVES WOMAN FROM DEATH BY TRAIN

Details of how Mrs. Louis Engquist, 62 years old, of 244 Alameda street, was saved from death on a trestle high over the Feather river near Tobin, by James E. Duvier, an employee of the Federal Reserve Bank, residing at 2402 Lombard street, San Francisco, were made known today upon the arrival here of Mrs. Engquist.

The woman's narrow escape occurred while she was on her vacation, speeding the summer with her family in Plumas county. Duvier was a guest at the same resort. Mrs. Engquist was the last of a party of eight to start to cross the Western Pacific trestle at Tobin at dusk. Duvier, who was at the end of the trestle, saw the headlight of a locomotive as the woman was halfway across and ran to the middle of the bridge and carried her to safety, just as the train thundered by.

L. D. Allen Is Made Divorce Defendant

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Lawrence D. Allen, automobile man and for many years the head of a large agency in this part of California, was today made defendant in a divorce action instituted by Mrs. L. Allen through her attorney, former governor James N. Gillett. Cruelly forms the basis of the complaint. The Allen was wedded only seven months ago at St. Helena. This was the automobile man's second matrimonial venture. He had been divorced by his first wife, daughter of a pioneer California family several years ago. Mrs. Allen set forth that her husband hit her and otherwise mistreated her. She asked for the exact form that it passed the senate.

HOLLAND SHOULD GIVE UP KAISER, COMMONS TOLD

'Men of Sterner Stuff Needed' If Government Unable To Get Him, View.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The declaration that Holland should be called upon to surrender the former German emperor was made in the House of Commons today by Horatio Bottomley, Independent, who again raised the question of the recent trials in Leipzig of Germans accused of acts in violation of the rules of civilized warfare in the world war. Bottomley said that if the demand for the ex-kaiser's surrender should be refused by Holland and the British government found itself unable to deal with the matter effectively, the government should make way for "men of sterner stuff."

The solicitor-general, Sir Ernest Pollock, who represented the government in the trials in Leipzig, reviewed them and declared that the punishments imposed by the German court on convicted German officers must be judged by German standards.

Autoist Freed From Blame in Two Deaths

The case against J. C. Fasshauer, manager of the Van Nuys Interstate company, who was charged with driving an automobile on the wrong side of the street, which resulted in the death of two women, was dismissed today by Police Judge Edward Tyrrell at the request of Chief of Police James Drew.

The accident happened on June 8 on Seventh street, Fasshauer in order to avoid colliding with an automobile which was traveling in front of him turned to the right and collided with a telephone pole. His car then struck and killed the two women, Mrs. Mary Nunes and Mrs. Mary Neves.

Motors Man Likens Business Men To Hive of Bees in Getting Results.

Oakland is destined to become one of the largest manufacturing centers in the United States, in the opinion of George H. Rebens, a local motor company, who was the speaker at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Progressive Business Club at the Hotel Oakland.

Rebens declared that in his estimation the greatest book of the past decade was Maeterlinck's "Life of the Bee," and as an illustration of the necessity of unified action on the part of business men in such organizations as the Progressive Business Club, he spoke of how Maeterlinck pointed out that when a bee is taken four miles from home it loses its identity, and when taken further it sometimes even forgets to feed itself. Pointing out further that the Belgian author had stated that the bee alone has no intelligence, but that the hive, acting as a unit, displays wonderful and magnificent intelligence, the speaker stated that this illustrated the principle on which business organizations are formed to increase their efficiency in "putting over" projects which would be impossible for the individual to achieve.

Oakland's resources along the line of hydro-electric power were touched upon in the talk, as were climatic and other conditions. The data along this line was procured by Rebens and his associates in making arrangements to establish an automobile manufacturing plant in Oakland.

The entertainment feature of yesterday's meeting was furnished by Charles Painter, who made his entrance after being securely nailed inside a packing case.

Growth of American Influence Is Shown

SHANGHAI, Aug. 18.—An indication of how swiftly American influence is growing in Shanghai, which is China's greatest commercial center, is to be seen in a comparison of the amount of business done at the American consular agency in Shanghai with that of postoffices in the United States.

A report issued recently by the postoffice department, which shows that receipts of fifty leading postoffices in the United States, records that only sixteen of these made increases in the month of May, 1920, over the same month the preceding year, and the largest increase was 15.32 per cent. The increase in postal receipts in Shanghai in April, 1921, over the same month the preceding year was 179 per cent and in the May increase was 123 per cent.

SUPERVISORS HEAR PLEAS ON BOOSTING ALAMEDA COUNTY

Prominent Men and Organizations Back Request For Aid in Advertising.

The board of supervisors today listened to pleas from a committee of representative citizens from different parts of the county for favorable action, on the request of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and others that $5,000 be appropriated toward the proposed fund of $50,000 for advertising Alameda county.

The board was addressed by former Mayor E. K. Taylor of Alameda, Irving Kahn, Frank Thatcher of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce, C. J. Downey of the Oakland Merchants' Exchange and A. W. Beam of Hayward, all of whom advocated the granting of the request. They argued that the establishment of a fund in Alameda county is even more important than increasing the number of homes since the industries provide employment and payrolls and prevent young men from going elsewhere to earn a livelihood.

METHODS OUTLINED.

Eugene Bowles, publicity director of the chamber of commerce, presented a report outlining the proposed methods of conducting the advertising campaign and also offered petitions from the following organizations asking the supervisors to make the appropriation: Builders' Exchange, Merchants' Exchange, Kiwanis Club, Apartment House Owners' Association, Mutual Business Club, Alameda chamber of commerce and the Commercial Club.

Chairman W. J. Hamilton announced the matter would be taken up in committee of the whole in considering the budget for the ensuing year.

The board considered the matter of awarding the contract for printing and advertising the charter of the proposed consolidated city and county government. Supervisor R. C. Staats took occasion to criticize attacks on the supervisors as extravagant in expending money for printing the charter as required by law. Staats said the supervisors are not responsible for the method of advertising the charter provided for in the charter.

Chairman Hamilton said the matter would be considered further in the committee of the whole, no decision being reached today.

REPLY AS SENT.

The board authorized County Clerk George E. Gross to send the following reply to E. W. Williams, secretary of the Alameda County Tax Association, in response to a letter of August 11, 1921, urging economy in handling the elections on the proposed city and county consolidation:

August 13, 1921.

Mr. E. W. Williams, Secretary Tax Association of Alameda County, Oakland, Cal.—Dear Sir: This will acknowledge receipt of your communication of August 11, 1921. The board of supervisors has every desire to keep down the cost of the charter elections and printing in connection therewith to the lowest amount possible. However, this board has nothing to do with the framing of the constitution, amendment, which requires specific things to be done. Under the law, the board is required annually to fix the rate for legal advertisement; and this has been done. There is no provision of law whereby we can have the advertising in connection with the publication of the charter let to competitive bids.

It seems to us the constitutional section has saddled needless expenses upon the taxpayer. With them, however, we have nothing to do as we can only follow the law as it is, and cannot make the law conform to our ideas of what it should be. It is our opinion that the legislature intended that the charter be printed in pamphlet

Assessors in Convention

Scientific appraisal of all real estate and standardization of assessment claims was the topic of the nineteenth annual convention of the California State Association of County Assessors, which convened at the Hotel Oakland at 11 o'clock today. Fifty of the fifty-eight county assessors of the state were present when the convention was called to order in addition to tax experts and members of the State Board of Equalization.

Mayor John L. Davis welcomed the delegates to the city after the convention had been formally opened by James Sleeper, president of the organization and Assessor of Orange county. He said in part:

"There is no need for me to say that Oakland welcomes you. To you men of California, county officials who serve the people, I can only say that the city is yours."

"Such pictures as you will see about Oakland are only a few of the millions of natural pictures seen in every city, town and hamlet of California. In your own home town you, too, perhaps may have seen beauties, but while you are here as honored guests of the city of Oakland I want that you should carry back to your homes vivid pictures of Oakland, as it is today and what it will be in the near future."

In responding to Mayor Davis' address of welcome, President Sleeper declared that the delegates to the assessors' convention deemed it an honor to be permitted to hold their annual convention in a city such as Oakland. He pointed out the unusual large attendance at the opening session of the convention, the largest, he said, he had seen during the nineteen years the association had been in existence.

President Sleeper's response was followed by the official roll call and adjournment until 1 o'clock.

At the afternoon session the convention was addressed by M. Demp-form, meaning thereby the well recognized and ordinary acceptance of that term. If they merely wished that we have on hand a sufficient number of the newspaper copies from some of the many publications ordered, that could easily have been expressed in appropriate language. It seems reasonable to infer that when the legislature designated that the printed copy appear in pamphlet form, after requiring the many publications that are required in the various newspapers, they wished to make a distinction between the newspaper copies and the pamphlet copies of the charter.

We wish to assure your Association that we will do all in our power to use businesslike and economical methods in connection with the charter advertising, consistent with the restrictions which are placed upon us by law.

Yours very truly,
BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Zoning Ordinance Meets Opposition

Through the unanimous adoption of a resolution the East Side Board of Trade at a meeting this week went on record as being opposed to zoning any district east of Lake Merritt, particularly that district known as Melrose Heights, according to a statement issued today. More than 450 residents of the district have signed a petition protesting against the zoning ordinance which, they claim, will retard the development of the eastern section of the city.

With the development of the east side of the city as a manufacturing center, more buildings are needed for the families of the working men, it was set forth by the officials of the East Side organization in protesting against the proposed zone laws. Encouragement of building in the district was proposed and adopted by the meeting.

LECTURES ON PSYCHOLOGY.

D. W. Starrer will lecture at the Oakland hotel, room 107, Friday evening on "Psychology and Metaphysics in Story Writing and Music."

CITY GETS ALL OF $12.50 RENT FOR AUDITORIUM

Auditorium rental rates were cut to $12.50 by the city council in order that they would correspond to the receipts at a recent colored church meeting. The city of Oakland got all there was in the collection box.

Some time ago the California Ministerial Alliance, colored branch, held a big meeting at the auditorium. The usual rental of the latter is $100 or so for the theater, but when it came time to pay up the managers of the conference admitted to Commissioner Carter that they had not received the money expected.

"But," said Carter, "the rental is $100 and we expected that amount."

"We haven't got it," replied the managers.

"How much have you?"

"Twelve fifty."

"Are you willing to give that in payment for the rental?"

"We are."

Carter introduced a resolution before the city council today setting $12.50 as the rental for the churchmen. The resolution was adopted without comment.

"This," explains Carter, "must not be construed as our usual rate."

Dog, Pony Circus Is Demanded in Suit

Complete possession of a circus is demanded in a suit filed today by Roy Conley against Fred Georges, as the result of a disagreement between the two men. The complaint lists the total equipment of the circus, including seventeen trick dogs, four trick goats, one trick mule, one trick pony and one trick stallion.

According to E. J. Silver, attorney for Conley, Georges and Conley embarked on the "dog and pony show" venture on a "fifty-fifty" basis, Conley putting up the money against Georges' experience. Conley claims a violation of their contract agreement, while Georges alleges that Conley, having gained experience, now wants to substitute his own for Georges' ability to run the show and "go it alone."

FIXING OF BLAME FOR WAR DELAYS U. S.-GERMAN PACT

Washington and Berlin Both Express Belief Signing Is Certainty.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—There are no serious obstacles in the way of informal negotiations for a peace treaty with Germany, which are now being carried on in Berlin by American Commissioner Dreesel, the State Department announced today.

Officials refused to confirm or deny Berlin reports that Germany is refusing to accept responsibility for the war, but expressed confidence that the negotiations would result satisfactorily.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—German-American peace negotiations for a separate treaty were reported today to have reached a deadlock over the American demand that Germany must recognize responsibility for the world war.

CABINET MAY QUIT.

Chancellor Wirth is consulting with leaders of the various political factions and if no satisfactory solution is reached the Wirth cabinet may resign, opening the way for creation of a nationalist ministry.

The Wirth government is the object of attacks from all quarters, not only on account of the American peace demand, but because of the necessary tax burden it is imposing upon the country and because of the threatened loss of Upper Silesia.

Chancellor Wirth and his advisers are trying to find a way to sidestep the war responsibility clause of the proposed American treaty, but so far they have not found a way to do so.

By CARL D. GROAT.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—Reparation for American lives lost in the great war is one of the demands of the United States in drafting a treaty of peace with Germany, it was reported here today.

The demand and others stirred resentment of German leaders, but they were prepared eventually to accede to all of them and sign the treaty as early as possible.

Frank Daroux Given Final Divorce Decree

The marriage of the couple some several years ago attracted widespread attention in the sporting world, and the sensational charges involved in the divorce battle before Judge Graham were aired for many weeks.

Daroux won the decree, but his wife appealed, and only recently the supreme court upheld Judge Graham's decision. By the terms of the settlement made today, Mrs. Daroux received property on Richmond street valued at $12,000, San Mateo county property worth $13,000 and certain household effects worth $2500 more. She was placed under bond to return some chandeliers to Daroux.

OPEN SESSIONS ARE DEMANDED AT ARMS MEET

Argument in Senate Likely To Hold Up Shipping Board Appropriation.

By J. BART CAMPBELL,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The demand for open sessions of the conference on disarmament and Far Eastern questions is growing among both Democratic and Republican senators today.

A hot fight is anticipated over the proposal of Senator Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, for open sessions which he offered as an amendment to the bill carrying an appropriation of $200,000 to meet the expenses of American participation in the conference.

Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, and Johnson, Republican of California, are also expected to join with Harrison and other Democratic senators in insisting on the adoption of the amendment.

If the fight is anticipated over the amendment, it may hold up the appropriation and incidentally, that for $48,700,000 for the Shipping Board, which the bill also carries, until after the Senate recess, which is to start on August 26.

PROLONGED DEBATE LOOMS IN SENATE.
The administration forces will doubtless fight the amendment on the ground that the administration should not be tied up by the act of the Senate to any policy governing or affecting the conference.

But the fight is likely to provoke another debate on the purposes and results of the conference, which promises to occupy much of the Senate's attention up to and during the time the conference is held. The conference is already splitting both Republican and Democratic senators into groups in accordance with the way their sympathies lie with respect to President Harding's plan for it.

Unlimited debate similar to that which the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations provoked is in prospect.

OPPOSITION TO ROOT IS SHARP.
The knowledge that the President is considering the appointment of former Secretary of State Elihu Root as one of the American representatives at the conference is earning considerable opposition from those senators whose views on national and international questions are widely divergent from Root's.

Another development today was the reported disavowal of Senator Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic minority leader of the Senate, to accept the President's offer of a place at the conference table. Underwood has been absent from Washington, but some Democratic senators closely associated with him expressed the opinion that he would refuse to serve as an American delegate to the conference.

CHINA IS IN ACCORD ON PACIFIC PROBLEMS.
PEKING, Aug. 18.—(By The Associated Press.)—China has formally replied with a cordial acceptance to the invitation to attend the Washington disarmament and Far Eastern conference, it was announced today.

President Harding's sincerity in calling the conference, manifested in the absence of limitation of the subjects which may be discussed, says the reply, is appreciated and the

FRANCES MARION, SCENARIO WRITER, IS BITTEN BY DOG

Former S. F. Girl and Husband in Hospital After Pet 'Great Dane' Bites Them.

Word has been received here that Frances Marion, scenario writer, and her husband, Frederick C. Thompson, are being treated in a New York hospital for bites inflicted by their pet dog, "Great Dane." The condition is said to be serious.

The actress and her husband were in New York for the purpose of preparing a scenario for the United States Department of Public Information. They were to have been married in December, 1918, but the wedding was postponed when the Armistice came. The wedding took place November 2, 1919, in New York. Men and women of note in the realm of moving pictures were among the guests at the wedding.

Miss Marion was prominent in art and literary circles in San Francisco at one time. She was the first woman to arrive with the Army of Occupation at the Rhine.

Postoffice officials and police said that they were "hot on the trail" of the writer and believed that he could not escape.

YOUTH IS DROWN.
CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Peter Nolan, 15, was drowned within fifty feet of the shore of Lake Michigan, after he had swam a quarter of a mile to get help for two companions drifting out in the lake. The three boys had been playing on a raft when the wind blew it away from shore and Nolan's companions stated that he left it to get help.

hope is voiced that the mutual exchange of views will enable a clearer international understanding regarding the problems of the Pacific, which have been the focus of world attention since the conclusion of the world war.

WILTON RUGS

Daily ALMANAC

by A. J. Schuster

THURSDAY, AUGUST 18.

Meniweather Lewis, after whom the Climate of California was named, crossed the Rockies in 1804-5. He was born on this day in 1774. In 1780 was fought the battle of Fishing Creek, to the discomfiture of the gentlemen who had to take their bait and go home. We find that it was in 1828 that the Wilkes exploring expedition started off for the South Pacific to lay the foundation for Frederick O'Brien's royalties, and that it was in 1831 that Horace Greeley, the man who said, "Young man, go west," arrived in New York, as far east as he could get.

Dear Sir: The price of a shave has dropped in France and the barber will have to scrape all the harder for a living.—U. J. M.

Reading an item in the "Town Gossip" reminds us of the composer who got several brilliant ideas for music by watching the juxtaposition of the doodle-bugs in a mill pond.

A PROTEST.

Sincere Lewis would have us think that small town life is on the blink. There is no culture there, and things don't sour on bifalutic wine. I'll bet the price of a cider jug he never hired a liv'ly mug. And went for a moonlight buggy ride. With a Main Street maiden by his side.

Now that chemistry has made a silken purse out of a sow's ear there may be a chance that science yet will make a Shakespeare out of a Bacon.

In France there has been discovered a rich countryman whose mania is stealing ten-cent boilers. One may understand that a man who would steal a boiler might escape with a plea that he knew not what he was doing, but to say that he tried it off in a moment of weakness is a bit too much. But what should a man wish of twelve large boilers in his cellar? After leaving the problem with the family, we can only say that our guess is that he played ones on his boilers whenever small daughter started up on her piano exercises.

WHY YOU NEED IRON

Take your strong and "brainy" and put the power into your blood to overcome disease germs

PRACTICAL ADVICE ON HOW TO DEVELOP GREAT ENERGY AND ENDURANCE

The food you eat contains carbon. When your food is digested it is absorbed from the intestines into the blood. When the carbon in your food comes in contact with the oxygen carried by the iron in your blood, the carbon and oxygen unite and by so doing they give off tremendous energy, thereby giving you great force, strength and endurance. Without iron your blood carries no oxygen, and without oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in your food, so that what you eat does you no good—you do not get any strength from it. It is like putting coal into a stove without a fire. You cannot get any heat unless the coal unites with the fire.

The strongest weapon with which to prevent and overcome disease, pneumonia, kidney trouble, rheumatism, nervous prostration, in fact, almost any disease or disease germs, is plenty of good rich, pure blood. Strained, overworked, nervous, run down folks in two weeks time can be made so strong and healthy that they can do anything. The food you eat does you no good unless you have plenty of iron in your blood. Iron is the element which makes the blood rich and pure. Iron is the element which makes the blood rich and pure. Iron is the element which makes the blood rich and pure.

SUFFERED ALL A WOMAN COULD

Mrs. Meyer Finally Found Relief and Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Orange, Cal.—"I always feel very grateful to you, as some twenty years ago three doctors said I had to have a serious operation. I had a tumor, and ulcers which would not heal. I was so weak and had such displacement so badly that I could hardly sit down at times, and it seemed as if I suffered every thing that a woman could suffer. Then I was advised to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it until I was cured and saved from the operation. I have told women of your wonderful medicine times without number, and I am willing that you should use these facts and my name if you like. I also used your Compound during the Change, and I can do all my own work but the heavy part, and can walk miles every day as I help my husband in the office."—Mrs. J. H. Meyer, 412 South Orange St., Orange, Cal.

How to Rid the Arms of Objectionable Hairs

(Aids to Beauty)

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required. Mix a stiff paste with some powdered deodorant and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be watched to get real deodorant.—Advertisement.

Theater

ORPHEUM
Saturday evening at the Orpheum. The new picture "Over the Hill" is the first look at "Over the Hill" ranking among the three greatest pictures ever shown.

"Over the Hill" tells a story as old as life itself and as new as the present moment. It is a story of mother-love, divine, beautiful, unselfishly and uncomplainingly and finally rewarded. Tears, there are, of course, but tears that are immediately followed by wholesome laughter.

The picture fairly bulges with fun and merriment. The older ones have had in their youth and such as the youthful ones are now having.

PANTAGES
Mirth, music and novelty is promised at the Pantages next week in the new, lavishly produced "Springtime Frolics" is the headline.

Loring Smith, a light comedian, leads a group of clever girls through a broad musical comedy that is both laughably and handsomely staged. Other acts on the same bill are three comedies known as "The Three Desires," Peterson, Avery and Rees billed as "the three merrymakers" promise entertaining numbers on the guitar and banjo.

AMERICAN
"Foolish Matrons" and Alice Brady in "Little Italy" are the two headliners of the double bill at the American.

"Foolish Matrons" keeps up the suspense of the audience to the very last moment.

Alice Brady's offering is principally for laughing purposes. Miss Brady plays a daughter of the Italian settlement, a charming role that she fills in a remarkably adequate manner.

LOEW'S STATE
At the top of the list of screen attractions at Loew's State Theater for the remainder of the week is Owen Moore in "A Divorcee of Convenience."

In the vaudeville show are Bravo, Michelina and Trullio in their conception of a Spanish Gypsy review. Several musical numbers are featured.

KINEMA
Thrills and adventure in Africa's danger zones, make up high lights in Book Two, of the $3,000-foot production "Miracles of the Jungle" which will complete this week's run at the Kinema Theater Friday night.

On Saturday night will be followed by Book Three, "In the Hands of the Apes."

Book Two "The Leopard's Vengeance" draws its name from the thrilling adventure of two girls who are saved from the clutches of a strange revenge of a captive leopard on its cruel master.

Besides "Miracles of the Jungle," the program includes Miss Daisy Wright's talented kiddies in a bright review of songs, dances and fun.

STRAND
The reputation of Anne Boleyn, his second wife, by King Henry VIII, whose love affair with the church and state in Europe in the sixteenth century, constitutes one of the great dramatic scenes of "Deception," a new Paramount picture of the week.

IDORA
Tank corps men of the United States Army, assisted by members of the 10th Cavalry, will stage a spectacular show at Idora Park Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

CHIMES
David Wark Griffith has built a new tale of love and loyalty which is being shown at the Chimes Theater for the last time today.

BROADWAY
"Three Sevens" in which Antonio Moreno is given the starring role, will be one of the big screen attractions at the New Broadway Theater today and tomorrow.

EXPECTANT MOTHERS
For Three Generations Pure Triple Cream Butter Easier to Digest

MOTHER'S FRIEND
For Three Generations Pure Triple Cream Butter Easier to Digest

Cuticura Soap
—AND OINTMENT—

Western Realty Men To Gather
TACOMA, Aug. 18.—Real estate men of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, British Columbia and Alberta belonging to the Interstate Realty Association of the Pacific Northwest will hold their 18th convention on Mount Rainier, near here, during four days, beginning August 24. Ira E. High of Boise is president.

A feature of the convention will be a speaking contest between delegates from various cities. Each speaker will be given five minutes to advance arguments why his is the best city in this section for a man to establish a home.

A special message from Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, will be read to the convention, and men of national prominence in real estate work will speak.

A feature of the convention is the arrangements that have been made to accommodate delegates who travel in their own automobiles. Camping accommodations in Tacoma and at Rainier National Park have been made aside for these, with running water, cooking and tenting facilities.

THE NAME CARVERS.

Centuries ago the man with the stone hammer chipped his name on the side of a cliff and never dreamed of the worries his rainglorious act would cause to the archaeologist of today. He was not interested in writing for the future any record of his day or his habits; all he desired was to have the name of John Stonehatchet higher than any other and in the results of his labor he was proud. Since then the world has been bothered with the same kind of a nuisance. The man who paints or carves his name upon the rocks and trees is, self-confessed, one who holds that name more beautiful than nature's wonders. He has a brother in every man who seeks by cheap expedient to win a place before the public. The family of those who labor to carve nothing more than the letters of their own poor names is spread over the face of the earth. A week ago Caruso died and the next day the owner of one of New York's popular song factories gave the order to its hacks to seize upon the moment. What he was after, he said, was a song to be called "They Wanted a Song Bird in Heaven, So God Took Caruso Away."

If this particular publisher can lead the procession with the gem of his ordering the name of his house will be written large. What matter if the writing offend decency and taste? It would seem that a thing so simple as the distinction between notoriety and fame, or self-exploitation and recognition, is never to be understood. As a remedy might be recommended a course of study as to why it is that certain names have adorned history and national life while others have defaced with meaningless hieroglyphics a landscape or a record.

The other day at Modesto a man was fined $25 for starting to carve his name in the famous Moro rock at Sequoia National Park.

The interesting news is vouchsafed that President Harding may participate in a golf tournament. The prospect is not going to perturb Americans. Colonel Harvey may horrify the British by making the round of the links in shirt-sleeves—foreign peoples generally have an exaggerated idea of what is decorum in men of high station—but Americans are not finicky about such things. If the President should appear as a contestant in an easy hat without particular shape, well broke shoes that are somewhat scuffed, and without a coat—provided he doesn't wear suspenders—nothing whatever would be thought of it, except possibly that he has shown a commendable intention to be comfortable. And the President's participation in a golf tournament would further boom a game which is already occupying a favored position among mature sports.

The only pleasantry that has developed in the Father Heslin case is in connection with the second ransom letter, which, it has since been admitted, was prepared by detectives in accordance with some theory that it might entice the murderer to disclose himself. It was declared at the time by handwriting experts not in the secret to have been the work of "a feeble-minded person." The experts may have cut closer to the truth than they had an idea of doing, now that the facts have come out. For there does not seem to be any Sherlock Holmes argumen in such subterfuge. It at least is suggestive to those who would blackmail and raise money in the way Father Heslin's murderer attempted. Really, the only merit the act has is in very slightly relieving an awful crime of its somber features.

The Edmonds so-called "Anti-Lame Duck" bill is creating some commotion in former legislative circles, though the reverberations do not reach this far with much distinctness. It is aimed at the practice of former officials and government employees who have had their day, yet who stick around the national capital and act as counsel for claimants against the government. There seems to be a considerable contingent doing this. They seek to act for those who have claims against departments or bureaus and who they claim are officially concerned and therefore have inside knowledge of. The Edmonds bill will inhibit this. Attorney-General Daugherty disclaims responsibility for the bill, but approves it and expects it to become a law.

IS CONGRESS LAGGING?

Congress right now is the center of national attention. With a month's recess planned by the lawmakers and several bills yet to be disposed of which should be enacted at the earliest possible moment, a public opinion is awaiting action. It is significant that in this opinion the distinction is being made between the Administration and Congress, and that the President and his able advisers are credited with showing a sound understanding of the country's needs, and the courage and initiative in accepting their responsibility. The complaint is that the Senate and the House are delaying at a time when industry demands information and assurance.

The two main bills which have to do with the stimulating of business and the wiping out of uncertainty are the railroad and the tax measures. The one would retrench public expenditures and provide for lower and more equitable taxes; the other would open the way for development and employment. Until it is known what Congress intends to do with them, millions of dollars will be withheld from circulation. The President and the chairman of the War Finance Corporation have urged the passage of the railroad bill which does no more than fulfill the promises made to the roads in the Esch-Cummings Act. It is said that if the railroads are relieved of the embarrassments heaped upon them in consequence of their temporary operation by the government that they will be able to pay their bills. For every dollar they pay five dollars will be released in unliquidated credits of dependent concerns.

These questions are in urgent need of a settlement without which there is no way for the business world to reckon for the future. The day set for the adjournment for a month of recess is but a week off and it is to be hoped that by that time one or the other of the houses will have taken some definite action.

Any critical attention given Congress at this time is not fair, however, unless it includes a consideration of the accomplishments since March 4th. The record includes the inauguration of the economy and efficiency program with the enactment of the budget bill, the passage of the emergency tariff bill, the immigration bill, reorganization of relief agencies for soldiers, reduction of discount rates to Federal reserve banks, refunding of the government short date debt, passage of Knox-Porter peace resolution, ratification of Columbian treaty, settlement of reparations dispute by American pressure, release of American prisoners in Russia agreed upon, arrangement for retirement of American forces at San Domingo, reiteration of "open door" policy in China, notification of Panama to accept the White award in dispute with Costa Rica, and the calling of the disarmament conference.

In the face of a present demand for results it is well not to overlook what Congress and the Administration have done since the inauguration last March.

Directors of the Eden Valley Farm Products Show are considering plans that may result in the establishment of the fair into a county institution. An official act toward that end would be appropriate and merited, but the directors may be assured that, whatever results, the show of its own merit has already acquired the distinction.

Directory figures, held to be as reliable as those of the census, would give to Oakland, Piedmont, Emeryville and San Leandro, 253,400 inhabitants, or a gain of more than 20,000 over a year ago. With the whole Eastbay community increasing at the same rate the 500,000 figure is shown to be not so far distant.

A lot of persons who are dissatisfied with their jobs should consider the unfortunate position of the judge of the Berkeley baby show.

BACK TO THE CONSTITUTION.

This newspaper hails with entire satisfaction the action of the Senate of the United States in amending the Willis-Campbell bill as to make heavily punishable as felony every search or seizure of or from person or home without a specific warrant. The amendment applies to violations of constitutional rights not only under the prohibition law but under all laws, State or Federal.

The foundation of personal liberty in this republic is in the Fourth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States. It guarantees the people not only against unreasonable searches and seizures but also against the issue of warrants not upon probable cause, or unsupported by oath or affirmation, or void of specification as to place and individual designation as to person.

Law is law and law enforcement is law enforcement; but the attempt to enforce law by methods and proceedings that defy the constitutionally guaranteed rights of citizenship is not to be tolerated.

The distinction should be made clearly, and kept indelibly in mind by every law-abiding citizen. The law is a law which applies with equal force to attempts to prevent the illegal importation of intoxicating beverages by seizure or the arrest of vessels flying a foreign flag and captured beyond the maritime limit of Federal jurisdiction.

The reported protest—friendly, we may be sure—of the British Government in a recent case of what is alleged to be such a seizure is on the face of the facts not only natural but also inevitable and proper.

This country, which went into the war against Germany in defense of the principle of the freedom of the seas, cannot afford to abandon the principle of the freedom of the seas for the sake of the convenience of prohibitory enforcement.—New York Herald.

NOTES and COMMENT

When Alameda domestic economists demonstrate that four meals may be prepared at a cost of 35 cents they will do something to counteract that assertion that it costs $1.75 a day for the support of that "average family" alluded to in statistics. When the considerable feat shall have been achieved the sleight of hand by which it is done should be spread as broadcast as possible. It is a matter that very many would like to learn about.

The suburbs are meeting trouble on the threshold. At Piedmont the guards of the police met an invading squad of storkers and turned them about, thereby defeating their purpose to raise ructions with mechanics at work on a school house; and no more cattle are to be driven through the Claremont district. It seems to be a respectful way of letting it be known that this is not the wild and woolly West.

The Army and Navy Journal has a new editor. It was founded in 1893. Its first editor was Colonel William Conant Church, who served in the civil war. He died in 1917. The new editor is Brigadier-General Henry J. Kelly, who was in the regular army till 1913, when he resigned to become a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. The Army and Navy Journal is accounted one of the leading military publications of the world, especially since this country came to the front so strikingly in the great war.

Whether there are grafting gasoline service stations in California might be a subject at least to consider, as other States are finding that such practices prevail. The director of weights and measures of the State of New York declares that motorists are defrauded out of $500,000 a year, the shortage running from a pint to a half-gallon on a five-gallon purchase. There would at least seem to be a big opportunity for graft in the gasoline supply business.

The auto camp has come to be an institution, but some towns encounter trouble in finding a sequestered spot where the attendant noises and other features of a camp will not disturb or menace residents. Some of the interior towns have river bottoms, which are particularly suited to such uses. But Berkeley gets into a tangle at once over the matter. And as to that, auto camps would seem to be concomitants of interior towns, rather than of beach places.

These Eastern Governors are somewhat given to doing things of late. The Governor of Illinois, it will be recalled, summoned the National Guard when a grand jury indicted him, and now the Governor of Michigan has got married. There are forty-four other States to hear from.

Vacationists are rather expected to come to grief when they go out with the unaccustomed gun after deer, but when they go to fish it was supposed, or at least hoped, they would reasonably escape plunking themselves. Yet there is an instance where an angler at Marysville did it. Just how he managed it is not explained in the account.

Budget Shearer Dawes must be strictly on his job. It was explained some time back that the Shipping Board must have three hundred million to ship up in the new warships. Yet there is a yawning breach in that bureau, yet the despatches make the appropriation only forty-eight millions. But forty-eight millions of good money is a lot to chuck after the billion or so that has been dissipated in the effort to establish an American merchant marine.

The cutter-in on the road is always an exasperator. Even when he palpably has the fastest machine the driver whom he cuts in ahead of resents his taking precedence. Automobile nature is the same everywhere. What is true in this vicinity is also true in Palatania, and is verified by a magistrate there, fining a cutter-in $25, even though no accident resulted.

That Senator Dodge is to head the delegation that represent this country in the disarmament convention is a guarantee that it will be fitly represented. We are now back to the custom of sending the leading men to represent us in conventions where the leading men of other nations are to be met.

The considerable job-awaiting contingent will take account of the coming of Plover for Surveyor-General, and probably wonder if the jam at last has been broken and the back-up of appointments started on its way. They are afraid not, else the important ones would come along first.

The Medford (Oregon) Sun discusses the terms on which this country is to feed starving Russia. "The Russians have agreed to Americans having charge of the distribution of relief in that famine-stricken land. As Americans will furnish nothing but the money and the grub for the relief, this seems hardly fair."

"Too many baths are breaking down the health of the American people," says a San Francisco physician. Now it is cleanliness—it used to be whiskey—it's always some Saturday night offense that is breaking our national health.—Kansas City Star.

The Geraldine Farrar divorce is referred to by an Eastern paper in the laconic announcement that Lou Tellegen wants to unhitch his wagon from a star.

They have taken two Shipping Board boats out of the mud opposite Port Costa within the past week, to be loaded for foreign ports.—Crockett Signal.

Father Heslin, the Colma priest who was abducted and murdered, was in charge of St. Mary's church at Vacaville in 1889 and 1890. The masses are not likely to be greatly relieved by the declaration of the trustees of Johns Hopkins Hospital that no surgeon should charge more than $1000 for an operation, no matter how rich the patient. A hundred years ago a bitter controversy broke out between Lloyd George and Lord Northcliffe would have been settled on the "field of honor," as Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr settled their feud. SIVAS
"If the so-called 'Angora Government' of the Turkish Nationalists has left Angora and shifted its capital to Sivas as dispatches state, following the defeat of its armies by the Greeks in Asia Minor, it has truly moved into the Turkish back country," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "In fact, it might almost be said to have moved from the twentieth century into the thirteenth. Angora is the tail head of the only steel highway that penetrates northern Asia Minor. Beyond this outpost of the age of machinery the country is wholly dependent for transportation on the camel and other beasts of burden, operating over roads that are far from good. Sivas lies more than 200 miles east of Angora, and over 100 miles south of the Black Sea."

The city exists, however, in a region that reached a very high state of development long before the smoke of puffing locomotives ever darkened an Asian landscape, and it is no mean city, as cities go in its part of the world. It is credited with a population of 65,000.

"Sivas is situated on a high plateau which is bleak and even frigid in winter. But it is by no means a waste country. The grain of the plateau of the Vilayet of Sivas to feed the less favored sections of Turkey. It is rich in copper, iron, coal and other valuable minerals, and if an industrial Turkey ever rises Sivas may be its Silesia or its Ruhr."

"When Rome was the ruling power of the world, Sivas (then Sebastia) was one of its chief border cities. Armenian kings ruled it for a while, and under the Byzantines it was the second most important city in Asia Minor."

"When Marco Polo visited the city in the thirteenth century it was one of the show places of the Near East and had a population of about 100,000. At that time the city was noted for its fine rugs and carpets, but now that industry has passed farther west."

"When the Seljuks had the seat of their empire in Sivas their architectural arts flourished. The colleges which they built in the thirteenth century are among the finest remains of Moslem art, to be found in Asia Minor."

"Perhaps the most despicable act of cruelty ever perpetrated on a sacked city, even in a part of the world where cruel tyrants have been numerous, was inflicted on Sivas in 1400 by the notorious Timur-Lame. He caused a thousand children to be trampled to death under the hoofs of his war horses, and followed this monstrous proceeding by having 400 of the defeated Armenian defenders of the city buried alive. Since it went through that harrowing experience the city has never risen to a position of any great importance."

Holding Husband

By Adele Garrison

With which but of philosophy, garnered by every woman of any experience with masculinity, she hurried out of the room, leaving me to speculate as to Dick's probable attitude toward the situation upon his return.

Beneath the calm mask which I was wearing all my power to wear. I was really wild with anxiety to get north to my home, and the arduous tasks which there awaited me. To dismantle the house and another, and get the furniture moved—all by the first of May—these were the duties which loomed large before me.

Two precious days of the three weeks were already gone, surreptitiously flitted by Dick in order to get in the trip to Blue's Bridge. In the face of this new turn of affairs I regretted for the first time that I had yielded to my own desire for the trip, and forborne to puncture the very palpable pretense of not being able to get reservations which Dick had made. I knew that he had no intention of the labor before me, and would lend a willing ear to the ticket agent's account of the perils of the return journey.

I rose and went back to my own room in search of something with which to busy myself. But everything of mine save the very last things, requiring about five minutes' work, was already packed. With the sudden thought, however, that it might be a long time before my trunk would reach New York, if the railroad continued to wonder if I would not better repack, and contrive to carry more things with me. Then my common sense came to the rescue, telling me that in a precarious journey like the one before me I would better travel as light as possible and I already had in suitcase and bag everything that I needed for two or three weeks, even if my trunk did not arrive. So I set to work to make our room tidy and pick up after Dick, who never by any chance hangs up any clothing or puts anything in its proper place.

I had only just finished when I heard the hall door open, and I hurried into the living room to learn what he had decided.

"Swiftly as I hurried, my mother-in-law was already in the living room when I entered it. I guessed that she had been waiting near the hall door, waiting to pounce upon Dick as soon as he returned. I heard her voice, shrill, impatient, as I turned the doorknob. "Well, what did you do?" she asked. "Don't stand there like a Stoungton bottle, but say something."

"Whatever a Stoungton bottle may be, I have not the faintest idea, nor even if I am spelling it correctly. But it was my mother's favorite adoration in my childhood days, and from my mother-in-law's frequent use of it I imagine that Dick's childish ears also became attuned to it. Some day I'm going to take a day off and find out whether it is really as good as it should thus be maligned."

"I'll say something, and that in a hurry," Dick growled, as I opened the door. "I don't get some breakfast right away. You've routed me out, and trotted me down there without a thing to eat, and now I'll not get my mouth open to throw in some food until I'm filled up. I'm hollow to my toes."

He glared at me, as if I, instead of his mother-in-law, were the ultimatum which had sent him to the ticket office before breakfast. But I knew that he was not angry with me, in his own parlance, because I was wildly anxious to know the result of his trip I applied a cruse of oil to the troubled waters which I saw rising.

"I think breakfast is all ready," I said gaily. "At least I smell the coffee, and Mandy is not supposed to make that kind of thing."

"What Mandy is supposed to do, and what she does, are two very different things," I interposed my mother-in-law tartly. "But in that case you are right for I have been supervising breakfast myself, and it has been done right. We can eat, at once."

She swept majestically toward the door, and I paid a silent tribute to her ability as a strategist. She will fight to the last ditch, but no one realizes more quickly or clearly than she when the particular part of the battlefield has been reached. And her retreats are always conducted as if they were triumphal marches.

Dick's stomach promptly to the dining room and ate his breakfast in silence, relaxing only when his third cup of coffee had been disposed of. A little while later, when he was all right, he announced at last, rising and stretching his arms above his head. "He's only doing his duty in waiting people. There's a nice improvement if he let 'em go and they piled up at Richmond, with every hotel full, and restaurants turning away people for want of food. The situation had, with no hope for improvement that I can see for several days. All we can do is to sit tight down here."

The author is very mysterious, but the story is even more mysterious. Screw on your thinking caps and perhaps you can solve the riddle of the Sally Ann. And, anyway, it's a rattling good story.

THE TRIP OF THE "SALLY ANN."

It was a dark night on the ocean and a storm was blowing in from the sea. The wind was howling, and it had not a pleasant sound. It was certainly lucky that the "Sally Ann" was a sturdy craft, for it looked as if it would need to be before morning.

In the Captain's cabin sat a young man, and by his name, he knew that his crew was loyal, and his ship was watertight, but he was afraid of one man on board, and he was a passenger.

CHAPTER II
In the passenger's cabin there was a slight noise. The passenger, Ed Richmond, looked up with a start. When he saw that everything was all right he looked relieved. "I'll have to be a little more careful," he said.

About midnight the wind increased and the storm increased. "Bang!" The ship had gone on the rocks! It was wedged in between two monstrous boulders, and was perfectly safe from the storm.

CHAPTER III
"The Captain is shot!" This was the news that ran around the crew. The next day (the second day) the committee to the jury appointed a committee to see that the passenger, the Captain's death. The passenger was nowhere to be seen. Of course suspicion fell on him. The next day he was not on the ship.

A week later the "Sally Ann" was back on the deck. He was mobbed, and five men were detailed by the mate to see if it was Ed Richmond disguised. They reported not.

Later it came out that the Captain was not shot. Neither was the passenger. A month later the ship sank, from what it is not known. These were all of the facts. I was able to gather them from a man on board. The rest is an unfinished mystery.

Cry on Geraldine's Shoulder

Listen, World!

I don't see any need for worrying over the present styles. There's an old proverb that applies to them very nicely—give a Calf enough Rope and he'll hang himself. By the same token, give a Calf enough Stocking and it will eliminate itself as an object for public curiosity.

It's the unexplored areas on the map that are inviting to the adventurer—the north and south poles, the lost lands of Africa. But who would equip exploring parties to visit Peoria, Illinois? And, as a matter of fact, the research, lovely woman, has pretty well turned herself into a Peoria, Illinois.

Show me the allure of a Dim-dim Knee now that they have become as common as pickled pigs feet? What lover would longer care to count the heartbeats of his charmer now that any passer-by can put a speedometer on them?

Which brings us down to a serious consideration of the true inwardness of Charm. Is it something you can count on with your clothes, or enhance by taking those clothes off? No, it's the "hall mark" of the spirit—the rare sign of a de luxe edition.

"Maud M" started a train of argument in this column with her letter in which she told of the wreck of her married life through her husband's love for another woman and in which she asked if she should grant him a divorce. Mrs. Edwile replied with a most emphatic NO! and suggested various other alternatives, including suit for alienation of affections. Here comes one of the many opinions on her letter:

Dear Geraldine:
I do not agree with you, but I cannot disagree with you. A farmer in the Isle of Man befriended a woman for another woman he could go—what's the use of trying to "hold" them if they don't want to stay? But no divorce would be granted. It does not force them to live together, as you claim. Those kind of people need no forcing. If they really loved each other they could not get away. His wife has the first claim on him and he has no right to put her on the defensive. He is breaking his vows to do it. He may overcome his infatuation for this other woman and return to his wife and she would be justified in giving him one more chance to make good. Then if he failed her she would be justified in suing for divorce, but not before.

UNDESIGNED

"Nay, nay, friend, I didn't decide that they 'would live together' if not granted the divorce. That was the contention of the other parties. I thought that it was highly immoral for a woman to believe in such a thing and yet refuse to give her husband the divorce he wished. I cannot conceive of anything more disgusting than a woman insisting on holding a man whom she knows desires to 'live with another woman.' That is why, in the name of decency, I urged such opinions as Mrs. Edwile's. I agree with you that divorce should not be lightly entered into—not too speedy a matter. But let it be deferred for the sake of fairness, not for the sake of revenge or personal selfishness.

After all, if a wife is so sure that her husband will return to her, why not let him get his divorce? He will seek out her rival for the sooner (if her theory be correct) and can then remarry her. Some very loving but wise women have put the matter to the test in that way—and won out.

"Ted" aired some remarkable opinions on marriage, opinions on marriage which are remarkable in this country, but which are considered most sane and sensible in the older settlements of Europe. Ted said "marry first, and love afterwards." Comes now one who thoroughly agrees with him and who says it has worked out in her case:

Dear Jerry:
In answer to Ted's letter in The TRIBUNE of August 3 I can say that I agree with him. Such was the case with my husband and myself. I knew my husband nine years before we were married. For that nine years we were the best of pals. I never once thought of love and never did he until one day when my husband had just graduated from college and had the principalship of a high school here in California married her. She had any objections to him as a son-in-law. Mother was so surprised she asked him which of us girls he meant. He had not paid any more attention to me than to my two sisters.

We were engaged one year. Even after we were engaged I never felt any differently toward him than I did before. He admired him for his thoughtfulness and kindness to all. But after we were married and our first little girl came, I found out I really loved him. We have been married four years and have three dear children. I think I have the dearest husband that ever lived, as most women do if they are happily married.

"I can truly say I never loved my husband before we were married, but I respected him. I know I liked him better than any other young man I knew. This will seem a funny thing to say, but nevertheless it is true—the first kiss my husband got was one month after we were engaged when he gave me his first kiss. My husband is most kind and thoughtful to his little family and has no bad habits and is a good provider. Outside of a school work his family comes first in everything. Good luck to you and your work, Jerry.

Chapter 61.

The Movies Furnish a Clew

NATURALLY enough one would think that when Phil Osphar, the Wise Persian Cat, had explained the situation to Corporal and Alex and the others, they would understand it thoroughly. But this was far from being the case.

"What you say may be true," admitted Corporal grudgingly. "I would never think of contradicting you right before your whiskers, but this much is certain: If I ever went through the experiences that are just now being reflected in the movie mirror, I have absolutely no remembrance of having done so."

"And as for this lesson in forgetting," quipped Reddy Quack-back, "I remember having left Dr. Blank's residence on Saturday night in company with you and my other friends here, but I don't remember anything about a lesson in forgetting."

"Dr. Blank did his work uncommonly well this time," Phil Osphar returned. "He even made you forget that you had forgotten."

"All I hope," quipped the Ducks, "is that I've never done anything too terribly terrible, and then forgotten it, with the aid of Dr. Blank. It sort of bothers me to think that, although my conscience is perfectly clear, it would not be nearly so clear if I were able to remember all the vivid, undelicious things I've done in the past."

"Have no fears on that score, madam," Phil Osphar consoled. "The experiences which you have forgotten were rather unpleasant, but not particularly wicked."

"But if they are unpleasant, why did you bring me here to the movie mirror to get a view of them again?" The Ducks said this with a snarl of her bill and an impatient ruffling of her feathers.

"Those experiences form the introduction to the Marshmallow Battle," Phil Osphar explained, "and cannot very well be left out. And besides, you'll soon forget them because they are mere recollections of the Marshmallow Battle. Dr. Blank, the annihilator of memories has done his work well, as I have already remarked."

The Ducks quieted down at

My jaws with anger would be swollen.

Just Folk

by Edgar A. Guest

JUST HALF OF THAT, PLEASE

Grandmother says when I pass her the cake:

"Just half of that, please."

If I serve her the tenderest portion of steak:

"Just half of that, please."

And be the dessert a rice pudding or pie,

As I pass Grandma's share she is sure to reply,

With the trace of a twinkle to light up her eye:

"Just half of that, please."

I've cut down her portions but still she tells me:

"Just half of that, please."

Though scarcely a mouthful of food she can see:

"Just half of that, please."

If I pass her the chocolates she breaks one in two,

There's nothing so small but a smaller will do,

And she says, perhaps fearing she's taking from you:

"Just half of that, please."

When at last Grandma leaves us the angels will hear:

"Just half of that, please."

When with joys for the gentle and brave they appear:

"Just half of that, please."

And for fear they may think she is selfish up there,

Or is taking what may be a young angel's share,

She will say with the loveliest smile she can wear:

"Just half of that, please."

Famous Wits of History

How Webster's Wit Saved Him from Punishment

No less an authority and story lover than Abraham Lincoln is the person from whom comes this story of Daniel Webster's early wit, as related to Lincoln by Mrs. J. A. Stevens.

"When Webster was quite young at school he was one day guilty of a gross violation of the rules. He was detected in the act and was called up by the teacher for punishment. This was to be the old-fashioned flogging of the hand. Webster's hand happened to be very dirty. Knowing this, on his way to the teacher's desk, he spat upon the palm of his right hand, wiping it on the side of his pants.

"Give me your hand, sir," the teacher said sternly. Out went the right hand, partly cleaned. The teacher looked at it a moment and said:

"Daniel, if you will find another hand in the school as filthy as that, I will let you off this time."

Instantly from behind his back came Webster's left hand, accompanied by the ready reply:

"Here it is, sir!"

"That will do," said the teacher.

"For this time you may take your seat."

Although Daniel and his brother were sent to college, their father thought that the former should give some return for the money spent. So he put sythes into their hands and ordered them into the fields to mow with him. Daniel made a few sweeps with his scythe and then, resting on it, he wiped the perspiration from his brow. His father smiled at him and said:

"What's the matter, Dan?"

"My scythe doesn't hang right, sir."

His father fixed it and Webster went to work again, but with no better success. Something was the matter with his scythe, he decided. It

Uncle Wiggily Stories

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SLIDING FLOWER.

"Do you wish to take Baby Buntly with you?" asked Nurse Jane, as she stood in front of Uncle Wiggily one morning. The bunny gentleman sat in an easy chair on the porch of his hollow stump bungalow.

"Take Baby Buntly with me?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Why I didn't know I was going anywhere!"

"Oh, yes, you are," laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I asked you to go to the store for me, and you said you would. Then along comes Baby Buntly, and I know she'll like to go with you. She is just washing her paws now."

"Hum!" said Uncle Wiggily. I must have fallen asleep after I told you I would go, and I just now awakened. Yes, I'll take Baby Buntly. Nurse Jane called Nurse Jane.

"Oh, I am so glad!" cried the little rabbit girl. She ran out on the porch as she heard the bunny gentleman say this, and climbing up into his lap, she nearly knocked off his pink, twinkling nose. Oh, I guess I mean his glasses.

"Tut! Tut! Easy, Baby Buntly!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "No tricks you mustn't tag me or make me chase you if I take you to the store."

"Oh, I'll be very good!" promised Buntly, sort of blinking one eye at Nurse Jane. "I'll only pick flowers."

Uncle Wiggily said this would be all right and just to his fancy. So, putting on his tall silk hat, and taking his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch out of the box, the bunny gentleman started out to the store with Baby Buntly.

"Don't forget to call on Nurse Jane. I want a loaf of bread and five pounds of sugar!" promised Mr. Longears.

As he hopped along he kept careful watch of Baby Buntly, for he thought the little white rabbit girl might forget to call on Nurse Jane and try to play some tricks on him, such as tagging him or playing hide-and-go-seek. But Buntly was very good. She walked quietly along, skipping now and then to be sure, but not much. And she gathered many flowers.

At last Uncle Wiggily and Buntly reached the store, and there the rabbit gentleman bought the sugar and bread.

"Now let's hurry home!" said Baby Buntly. "I want to put these flowers in water."

"I can't hurry too much," Uncle Wiggily answered. "My rheumatism is paining me. But I'll do the best I can."

Baby Buntly started to hop, but all of a sudden she cried:

"Oh, I must get some of those blossoms," and she pointed to a clump of yellow posies growing amid the green grass of a near-by field. "I'll wait for you," said Uncle Wiggily, and he sat down on a stump, with the bread and sugar. I don't mean that the bread and sugar sat down, but that Uncle Wiggily held them on his lap.

Well, the bunny gentleman must have fallen asleep, but he was suddenly awakened by hearing Baby Buntly calling his ear.

"Get up, Uncle Wiggily! Get up! You've got to run fast!"

"No, no, Baby Buntly! No fair! I said if I took you with me that you weren't to chase me, make me play tag or run!" said Mr. Longears.

"Oh, but you have to run! said Baby Buntly, jumping up and down, she was so excited.

"Why have I got to run?" asked the bunny, and he rubbed the end of his pink, twinkling nose with his tall silk hat.

COMPLAINT ON ICE PLANT WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Committee Chosen To Make Report As To Noise And Vibration

As the result of a meeting of public officials, gas engine experts, manufacturing heads and citizens in Commissioner Frank Colbourn's office, Colburn and Acting City Attorney Leon Gray will appoint a committee which will inspect the operation of the Union Ice company.

the meeting yesterday was a result of the recent introduction of a city council ordinance which was aimed to halt the operation of all gas-engine plants between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m., when they are operated within 200 feet of residences. The ordinance was a direct result of complaints from residents in the city.

CARE IS URGED.

Irate residents and representatives of the ice company were both present. Joseph E. Caine of the Chamber of Commerce pointed out that unless care is taken the ordinance will tend to discourage industry in Oakland.

Robert M. Fitzgerald intimated that if the action against the ice company is too drastic, the ice company will also leave Oakland.

"We believe this ordinance to be discriminatory," he said. "We are willing to make every possible concession toward our neighbors and toward the city, but if we find the action of the city is impossible to meet we will close the plant."

After the general meeting, according to Colbourn, gas engine experts said that they believed that corrections could be made in the ice plant which would eliminate nearly all of the noise and vibration. They said Colbourn is just what he wants.

Gallows Erected As Suicide Threat

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 18.—Mrs. Ruth Wellensiek, wife of William Wellensiek, a wealthy farmer of near Beatrice, Neb., filed suit for divorce at Beatrice, alleging that her husband had constructed a regulation gallows on the farm near their house upon which he is alleged to have told his wife he intended taking his life.
